Acknowledgments

The Northern HSC Trust and Northern Local Commissioning Group would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who participated in this engagement process. The feedback received from those who participated in events and attended meetings was invaluable. Special thanks go to all ten of the local Councils in the Northern area for facilitating engagement with local voluntary and community groups.

1. Introduction and background

In June 2011 the Minister, Edwin Poots, announced a review of health and social care services in Northern Ireland. The review team was chaired by John Compton, Chief Executive of the Health and Social Care Board and was completed at the end of November 2011. The outcome of the review Transforming Your Care (TYC), describes a model for the future shape of health and social care services.

The Northern Local Commissioning Group of the Health and Social Care Board and the Northern Health and Social Care Trust have been translating the proposals in the Review into a more detailed plan. The Population Plan will provide a roadmap and direction of travel for the rest of the transformation process.

In developing the Population Plan the Local Commissioning Group working with the Trust engaged with all ten local Councils in the Northern area, local MLAs and political representatives, local voluntary and community groups and a number of User Panels. A full list of all those engaged can be found in Appendix 1.

This report provides as summary of the feedback received during the engagement process.

2. Engagement process

The engagement process during May 2012 involved a number of events and meetings as detailed below.

Meetings with public representatives

The Northern Local Commissioning Group of the Health and Social Care Board and the Northern Health and Social Care Trust are committed to working in partnership with local public representatives in developing and delivering services. In response to Transforming Your Care we instigated a series of meetings with local councils and MLAs. It was important to meet with each constituency to discuss local issues and the local implications of Transforming Your Care. These meetings were supplemented with party meetings as required. All ten Councils were keen to explore ways to work more closely with health and social care in their community planning role.

The first round of meetings took place between January and March 2012. As this was at an early stage in the planning process, it was agreed with all councils to return in May when the Population Plan was nearer completion. During May 2012 the Local Commissioning Group and the Trust met with all ten Councils. The issues raised by Councils and MLAs have been summarised and included in Section 3 of this report.

Meetings with local voluntary and community groups and representatives

During May 2012 the Local Commissioning Group and the Trust hosted a series of ten workshops across the ten local Council areas in the Northern area. The aim of these workshops was to involve community and voluntary sector organisations in discussions to inform the local response to the recommendations arising from Transforming Your Care. The workshop in each Council area was promoted to local community and voluntary sector groups by the District or Borough Council in the area.

The workshop in each Council area was promoted to local community and voluntary sector groups by the District or Borough Council in the area.

The format of each workshop was the same. A presentation highlighting the key Transforming Your Care recommendations preceded discussion on the following:

- What things do we need to think about as Transforming Your Care is taken forward here in your local area?
- What services do you currently offer that are (or could be) part of this picture.....and what other possibilities do you foresee for your own or for other local organisations?
- What do we need to make sure we do to achieve a successful outcome – e.g. addressing issues / barriers / challenges that we have identified, taking advantage of possible opportunities, working in new ways etc.
- How do we move forward together?

Feedback provided at each workshop was recorded and is included in Section 3 of this report.

Engagement with Trust User Panels

A number of well established User Panels operate in the Northern area.

The Disability Consultation Panel provides a forum to promote partnership between people with a disability, both groups and individuals, and the Trust. The Panel provides a voice for service users with a range of disabilities including physical and sensory disability, learning disability and people with mental health conditions. The Panel met on 21 May to consider the recommendation within TYC and feedback is included in Section 3 of this report.

The Older People's Panel provides an opportunity for older people and their representatives to be involved in the planning of services for older people. Members include a number of older people and wide range of representative organisations from across the Northern area. On 16 May the Panel provided feedback on the key recommendations within TYC. This is included in Section 3 of this report.

The Hospital User Panel was recently established to make sure that ensure that hospital users and representative organisations are involved in developing services in the Northern area. The Panel considered the key recommendations within TYC on 29 May 2012 and the feedback is included in Section 3 of this report.

Staff Engagement

We recognise that the key to success in major transformation is the involvement of staff. We have already completed a number of staff engagement events that have focused on awareness and engagement on the TYC agenda. We have also established processes to make sure that staff are involved in the ongoing implementation of the Population Plan.

Staff engagement has included the following.

- Ten Chief Executive Briefings
- Directorate workshops
- Meetings in Causeway Hospital and Antrim Hospital
- Monthly Assistant Director Briefings – as required
- Leadership Workshop for senior Trust staff
- Establishment of a number of multi professional working groups within the joint Trust and Local Commissioning Group planning arrangements
- Update on TYC included in EBrief

3. Feedback – Key Themes

While there were many different points made during the engagement process a number of key themes emerged. The following provides a summary of the feedback received during and throughout the engagement process.

The Planning Process

- General acceptance and / or welcoming of the direction mapped by Transforming Your Care.
- Concern about the timeframe and clarity of the process
- Consistency required across NI in terms of plans.
- Concerns about the role of local councillors on NLCG and the process for ensuring that the local voice is heard.
- Concerns around the impact of Transforming Your Care recommendations on local services and facilities although this was often expressed as needing clarity, timely information / explanation and needing to be kept aware, on an ongoing basis, of any planned changes which would affect acute hospital and other, more local, services.

- Opportunity exists to integrate with local planning arrangements within existing and new Council areas – e.g. community planning, cluster groupings.

Working together

- Desire to see closer working between the health and social care and local community / voluntary sector organisations with examples provided of what this might entail – e.g. their involvement in prevention work, provision of supported housing, provision of practical services for older or vulnerable people, provision of transport, provision of other specialist services and programmes for particular target groups
- Closer working needs to be built on a foundation of increased confidence to work together, honesty and transparency, mutual respect and equal partnership.
- Planning the way forward needs to take full account of needs from one local area to another, ensuring that hidden needs are uncovered and responded to. .
- Need to build on the activities, services and infrastructure that already exist in local areas rather than ‘re-inventing the wheel’.
- Need to ensure a joined up approach - statutory bodies need to work more closely
- Need to share information more effectively on the contacts, services, activities and infrastructure that exist within the wider HSC, in order to make the most of any integrated or partnership working. A single point of contact would enable the sharing of information and help to identify specific contacts, or for key link roles at the interface between health and social care and the community.
- Need to recognise that most community / voluntary sector organisations do not have core funding or if they do this tends to be fixed term. If they are to participate in partnership arrangements or to deliver key services in a sustainable way, community / voluntary sector groups need financial support in some form, from some source, or combination of sources.

- The strength of community / voluntary sector infrastructure can vary within and between local Council areas. Community Network organisations are a good way to engage with local groups, or to advise on key links.
- Community and voluntary sector have wealth of information on services e.g. Community Networks already working with PHA.
- Councils are tasked with looking at the quality of life and health promotion issues; local government has a strong health and wellbeing remit and would like to examine partnership working.

Community services

- Supported for the principle that people are maintained in their own homes although concerns were raised about the availability of alternative service and how the private/independent sector will support people to stay at home
- If more care is to happen at home, adequate domiciliary care packages need to be in place to support this, including measures and contingencies to cope with the needs of socially isolated individuals, poor weather impeding access to dwellings, shortages of home care staff etc.
- Home may not always be the best option as a setting for care for an older or vulnerable person, for various reasons.
- Adequate support must be available for carers – particularly with the increased emphasis on care at home.
- Need to develop a range of services to support the new emphasis on care at home – befriending, handy person services etc.
- Keeping people at home places enormous strain on carer.
- Carers need to be supported effectively. This is especially so if older people and other vulnerable individuals are to be looked after at home rather than in residential settings.

- Respite care is an important part of the future scenario – particularly when the emphasis will be on care at home.
- The needs of parents of children with a disability need to be considered
- Concern over future of Dalriada Hospital
- Concern about closure of residential homes and existing residents – they must be replaced with good quality care.
- In rural areas the available housing is an issue and may be difficult to maintain people at home – domiciliary care is challenging in rural areas and staff spend a lot of time travelling.
- Query how shift left - shift from acute to community will be resourced - will resources shift left as well?
- Concerns about Direct Payments – administrative burden and vulnerable people being abused
- Opportunities for befriending and other support services need to be developed.

Acute services

- The need is for clarity and timely information on possible changes to acute hospital services. This needs to be underpinned by further explanation of why any proposed changes need to happen. (Coleraine and Ballymoney workshops)
- Concerns about the future of Causeway Hospital and the need to maintain acute services and emergency services in the area. Population on the causeway coast increases substantially in the summer months and queries around what is being done to attract medical staff to area and if models in other countries have been explored.
- People want up to date hospitals that offer better outcomes; small and local where possible/large acute where necessary.
- Concerns that Antrim Area Hospital has lengthy waiting times and changes to health and social care could have a further adverse impact.

- Investment and expansion required at Antrim Area Hospital
- Need to signpost people to range of service available including minor injuries.
- Rural communities feel isolated and far from emergency services. Need to look at opening times for minor injury units.
- Travel and the availability of transport services is a big issue in rural areas and it is challenging relying on public transport to attend hospital appointments.
- Day procedures should be provided as locally as possible

Primary care

- Primary care could have an increased role in treating people locally rather than referring to emergency departments.
- GPs and Community Pharmacists should have a bigger role in early intervention. Also aim to build confidence and understanding between sectors so that there is confidence to refer to community and voluntary sector organisations – e.g. GP referral to community / voluntary organisations
- Concerns about GPs in charge of budgets and how they will cope when more services are shifted to them - how will GPs deliver what is being proposed and how will the existing workforce cope?
